Annexure - I

The workshop also aims to impart and develop knowledge and skill to encourage writing multidisciplinary research paper and discussion on what kind of phenomena related to paper writing we should understand better. What kinds of things should we research in the future? How should we teach and guide paper writing?

The aim of the Collaborative Training Workshop is to locate such research topics in the field of Research Paper writing that are relevant not only now but also in the future. Apart from conventional academic presentations, we encourage participants to propose talks and topics that inspire curiosity. Which current phenomenon or question would you like to bring into the discussion? At best, making our questions and shared puzzlement visible can create new ideas for research paper writing and chances for collaboration.

Objectives and Methodology of Workshop

The course will be operated through theoretical lectures and practical application of different training modules. Development of peer-reviewed paper writing techniques would be also operated in this training workshop.

Targeted Participants

Faculty members of the universities/research institutes/colleges/government and NGOs functionaries/M. Phil/Ph. D research students/Masters students in final semester/freelancers, etc in the areas of Economics and allied areas.

Note

1. It is planned to motivate the participants to write and contribute to future international conferences and forthcoming special issues of the peer reviewed journals "Global Economics Science" and "Regional Economic Development Research" published by the Universal Wiser (Singapore) free of cost.
2. No Fee will be charged from the participants of the Workshop.
3. Certificate of participation will be provided to all participants with more than 80% attendance.
